An Excursion to Wacamaw.

We have been requested to ask the pleasare hunters to get up an excursion to Wilmington or Charlotte or Waccamaw Lake near Wilmington. A trip to either place would be enjoyed-if not made too expensive.

A Mystery Cleared up.

The body of Horace McLean, the colored man who was taken from the officer who had him in charge on his way to Lumberton jail last November, was found in the water under the west end of the new bridge at Rock Ford, four miles from Laurinburg, by a colored fisherman a few days ago. He had wounds on his head and was tied under the water.

Nearly all of his former employes were ass sembled in the car Accountant's office at the presentation. E. T. B. Glean, Chief Clerk and Car Accountant, made the presentation speech. Those present say it was a most enjoyable occasion.

Court -- June Term.

The business of the Sessions closed on Friday morning, and that of the Common Pleas Friday afternoon The following cases not reported in our ast issue were called and disposed of: The State vs. Daniel Townsend, assault and battery, not guilty.

The Seate vs. Hiram Winn, selling proporty on which there was a lien, continued. The State vs. Collins Stephens, assault of a high and aggravated nature, guilty. State vs. John Ferribee, for firing the woods of Mr. Vernon Regers, not guilty.

SENTENCES. Calvin McDonald, larcony, 1 year in penitentiary.

Tom Walter Chambers, stealing cotton from the field, I year in penitentiary. George Davis, aggravated assault and battery, 5 years in penitentialy.

Collins Stepens, assault of a high and aggravated nature, a scaled sentence.

John willis, aggravated assault I year in penitentiary or $100 fine and all costs.

How to Drink Ten.

Wong Chin Foo, writing in the Cook, says, "Drink your tea plain. Don't add milk or sugar. Tea brokers and tea tasters never do; epicures never do, the chineso never do! Milk contains fibrin, albumen or some other such stuff, and tea a delicate amount of tannin. Mixing the two makes the liquid turpid. This turpidity, if I remember the cyclopedia aright, is tannate of fibrin or leather. People who put milk in tea are therefore drinking boots and shoes in mild disguise.

A nice cofiln is considered a very appropriate present to send an old person in China. You are, however, expected to find out what size the candidate will require without asking him directly.

Children's Day at Shiloh.

Saturday last was "Children's Day" Shiloh (the new Church on the road to Society Hill, just this side of Mr. W. D. Evans'-a short history of which will appear in these columns soon) and long before the hour the crowd began to swell with additions from different sections. An interesting programme had been arranged and was successfully carried out by the officers of the school, T. S. Smith and C. C. Frasier, Misses Nellio Covington and Annie Frasier, of Hebron, presided at the Organ, and made sweet music while Col. John Covington, J. F. Everett, J. S. Moore, T. S. Smith and C. C. Frasier delivered short addresses, at the close of which the tables were spread, and we can truthfully say it was a magnificent feast. The afternoon was spent in conversation, rambles and a visit to Col. C. S. McCall's popular flour and grist mill. All went home satisfied with the pleasures of the first celebration of "Children's Day" at Shiloh.

Rev. Samuel P. Jones, the great Methodist revivalist, is thus described in the Atlanta Constitution:

"Mr. Jones, according to our authority, is about thirty seven years of age. He is a small, slender, sallowfaced man, with black hair and eyes 100 BARRELS and a black moustache, decidedly unclerical looking, but apparently full of snap and energy. His earnest and personal magnetism impresses all who come in contact with him. Much that has been said of his early follies is untrue. He never gambled. He never kept a saloon. He was simply a noisy froliesome young fellow, too fond of liquor for his own good."
